

H Plus is a look into a future where transhumanism intersects tragically with human nature. The new, dangerous jobs around the solar system are worked by Mediums—robot bodies inhabited by human minds. On Titan, Medium miners revolt when they are denied “leave” in their human bodies. Kara Shen, a journalist working undercover, is caught up in the action.

The player follows Kara and the rebels through tactical squad battles and manages to win victories against the authoritarian Commissioner Warburton.

The rebels fracture as a hardline faction forms around, Vanessa Meyburg, a long-time miner. Kara, disturbed by the escalating violence, agrees to a secret meeting with Commissioner Warburton in a Titan Resources habitat.

INT. DOMED GARDEN

The landscaped greenery inside the dome clashes with the stark Titan landscape outside. Similarly, Warburton’s weary face clashes with the uncanny smoothness of the Medium that Kara is riding.

WARBURTON

Thank you for coming, Ms. Shen.

Warburton gestures to a nearby patio table for two. On the table, there is a bottle of liquor and two glasses. Kara takes the glass nearest her and holds it up, questioning.

WARBURTON

Just a gesture. And I didn’t want to drink alone.

KARA

It makes you look disconnected.

WARBURTON

Let’s stick to the reason you’re here.

I’m offering a cease-fire and pardons. It’s your last chance before it all blows up.

KARA

Yours too.

Warburton looks coolly at Kara and takes a drink. She stares at him, letting the uncanny face of the Medium work for her.

WARBURTON

There are conditions. You must hand over Vanessa Meyburg, as well as her cohorts from the factory.

KARA

That's not going to happen. Vanessa saved our lives by outing your spy.

WARBURTON

But I bet she wanted to kill Leon, didn't she? And she's only gotten more ruthless since she's been free?

KARA

(Hesitating, at first)
She's angry. A lot of them are. You're keeping their bodies prisoner!

WARBURTON

Vanessa doesn't just want to get off of Titan, she wants to destroy it!

KARA

You're saying she's one of the "terrorists" Earth warned us about?

WARBURTON

If you keep her, she's going to get your people killed.

Kara opens a channel to her friend Yusef back at the rebel camp. This is visible to the player as UI overlay, but it is invisible to Warburton.

KARA

Yusef, find Vanessa. Make sure she doesn't start anything.

YUSEF

Wish I knew where you were. Everyone's jumpy. I'll find V.

The channel closes, Kara returns her attention to Warburton.

WARBURTON

Checking in on Vanessa?

Kara looks surprised.

I saw your eyes flicker up and right. I know more about riding than you think.

KARA

Even if I wanted to hand over Vanessa, I'd need proof of what you're saying.

WARBURTON

I have logs of her saying she'd like to let all the Titan staff asphyxiate.

He waits. Kara looks suspicious again.

Think you can get your people to believe they're real?

Kara breaks eye contact, looks out the window, towards the sky.

KARA

I'm familiar with "reputation adjustment."

Warburton takes another drink, relaxing.

WARBURTON

Do it fast. I can only hold off for so long. And be careful, Kara.

Kara mockingly raises a glass to him, then sets it down and leaves. On the way out, another message arrives.